Cheers Jack, great to speak just now.

Great to confirm the visit. We'll get to you this week:

- Quotes, facts and some background info on XXXX, the brewery and the Comm Games partnership.
- If we can get at some stage the shoe sizes of the everyone attending, including the Minister – that'd be great.

The actual appearance on the day:

- Alert for 9:00am for crews/snappers to arrive, ahead of 9:30am arrival from the Minister.
- Meet with our Brewery Director Irene Bell.
- Put on safety gear, go straight through to the production line.
- Mini tour of the production line with Irene, good vision in the brewery area.
- Return to the XXXX Alehouse, where a stand up/short presser can be held.

That should be done within an hour.

Media approach:

- Statement and images of the can dropped to the Courier and GC Bulletin on Tuesday 13th for Wednesday 14 Feb. We can do this if you like.
- Broadcast appearance alert sent Tuesday as well, about the visit. Re-sent Wed morning. Suggest both of us do this to generate interest.
- Media release and cans sent post Brewery visit.

Facts and detail for the statement:

- We'll finalise these this week, along with a short brief about the Brewery and business for the Minister.

XXXX BREWERY VISIT BRIEFING DOCUMENT

WHAT: In August 2017, Lion proudly announced XXXX GOLD as the official beer of the Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games and the Australian Commonwealth Games team. Having proudly supported the Commonwealth Games in Brisbane in 1982, the team at XXXX are delighted to continue our tradition of supporting Australia's athletes and Queensland on the world stage.

To celebrate the partnership with GC2018, XXXX Gold is releasing limited edition commemorative cans featuring three of the GC2018 events - cycling, sprinting and swimming – as well as a can celebrating the return of the Commonwealth Games to Queensland. The cans echo the special release of XXXX Bitter for the GC1982 in Brisbane.

The Hon. Kate Jones MP, Minister, is invited to launch the new commemorative cans on Wednesday 14th February at the XXXX Brewery and see the production of the beer with Brewery Director, Irene Bell and three-time Commonwealth Games gold medallist, Mark Knowles.

The Minister will have the opportunity for a short media conference as well, with Irene and Mark available for any XXXX related questions in support.

ABOUT THE XXXX BREWERY:

- 1878 is when it all began for XXXX; our history with this great state is nearly 140 years old.
- We have 144 people working at XXXX –many of which help brew a big range of our beers, but of course the whole team love brewing XXXX.
- We brew about 200 million litres of beer a year – that’s about 25 million cartons.
- XXXX has a proud tradition of supporting the community – the support of the Commonwealth Games in 1982 - and again this year at the Gold Coast - is just one example of this.

ABOUT MARK KNOWLES

- Mark Knowles is a Queenslander (born in Rockhampton) and a member of the Australia men's national field hockey team.
- He is the only athlete remaining from the Kookaburras' 2004 Olympic gold medal winning campaign and is currently the captain.
- Mark made his fourth appearance in the men’s Olympic hockey team in Rio and was a part of the 2010 and 2014 World Cup winning side and has three Commonwealth Games gold medals to his name.
- Mark has 300 caps for his country with a second Olympic gold in his sights. Throughout his career he has also claimed five Champions Trophy titles.
- Mark’s former local clubs included: HC Rotterdam, NED; Easts, Brisbane, QLD; Southside United and Rockhampton, QLD.

ABOUT THE COMMEMORATIVE CANS: XXXX has created a series of limited edition XXXX GOLD cans featuring three of the GC2018 events - cycling, sprinting and swimming – as well as a can celebrating the return of the Commonwealth Games to Queensland.

Customers can purchase the limited edition GC2018 commemorative cans, by purchasing specially marked cartons of XXXX GOLD. The 375ml cans will be available in a 30 pack and sold at major liquor outlets across Queensland from March 2018, and throughout this year’s GC2018, while stocks last.

MEDIA RELEASE

XXXX GOLD RELEASES COMMEMORATIVE CANS TO CELEBRATE THE GOLD COAST 2018 COMMONWEALTH GAMES

February 2018 – Australia’s biggest beer brand XXXX GOLD is excited to officially release a series of commemorative cans to celebrate the Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games (GC2018) and support the Australian Commonwealth Games team as they Go for Gold.

XXXX has long been a brand synonymous with Queensland sport, particularly when it’s on the world stage. XXXX supported the Brisbane 1982 Commonwealth Games with a series of commemorative cans and is now back nearly 36 years later to once again show their support for GC2018.

This latest initiative aims to re-create a series of limited edition XXXX GOLD cans featuring three of the GC2018 events - cycling, sprinting and swimming – as well as a can celebrating the return of the Commonwealth Games to Queensland.

XXXX Brewery Director, Irene Bell, said, “We are really excited to be brewing XXXX GOLD in these special cans and create something nostalgic for Queenslanders. The commemorative cans are a nod to our long-standing support of the games and the Australian team.

“Like a great beer should, sport brings us together and helps us celebrate the best of being Australian, something we hope the commemorative cans will also achieve.

“As Queensland’s number one beer, XXXX GOLD is out to inspire our athletes to top the medal tally, and help Australians Take in the GOLD as the Australian team brings home the GOLD,” Bell said.

Queenslanders will have the opportunity to grab their limited edition GC2018 commemorative cans, by purchasing specially marked cartons of XXXX GOLD.

The 375 ml cans will be available in a 30 pack and sold at major liquor outlets across Queensland from March 2018 and throughout this year’s GC2018 while stocks last.

About XXXX GOLD

XXXX GOLD was first launched in 1990, and for more than two decades it has been a supporter of both sport and the community across Australia. In 2007, XXXX GOLD unveiled the XXXX GOLD Beach Cricket Series, bringing some of the world's best former cricketers to Australian beaches to compete in custom built stadiums. In 2012, XXXX GOLD launched XXXX Island as the ultimate destination for mates' trips away. In 2017, XXXX GOLD partnered with Cricket Australia as the official beer sponsor of the Magellan Ashes Series and Australian cricket team. XXXX GOLD launched its new campaign inspiring Aussies to Take in the Gold and make the most of moments spent under the sun with friends and family enjoying the unique Australian outdoor lifestyle.

Minister reveals Commonwealth Games beer cans

Commonwealth Games Minister Kate Jones has teamed up with iconic Queensland brewery XXXX to release a series of commemorative beer cans to celebrate the Games.

The XXXX Gold cans created by the Queensland institution 36 years after the brewery developed a similar series for Brisbane's 1982 Commonwealth Games were shown to the public for the first time today.

"In years to come, these cans will be a special part of Queensland's history," said Commonwealth Games Minister Kate Jones.

"It's pieces of memorabilia like this that last generations – people will be able to hand down these cans as a reminder of the largest event in Queensland's history.

"Visitors from overseas will be able to take home a souvenir that is uniquely Australian. Nothing screams Queensland like a XXXX beer can designed to celebrate the Gold Coast Commonwealth Games.

"The XXXX brewery is an icon in Queensland so it's only fitting they produce the official commemorative cans for the Commonwealth Games."

The limited edition GC2018 cans will incorporate different themes like swimming, cycling and running and are also intended to celebrate the return of the Commonwealth Games to Queensland.

XXXX Brewery Director Irene Bell said GC2018 commemorative cans would appear in specially-marked cartons of XXXX GOLD and would be sold at major liquor outlets across the state from March and throughout the Games.

"We are really excited to be brewing XXXX GOLD in these special cans and create something nostalgic for Queenslanders," she said.

"The commemorative cans are a nod to our long-standing support of the games and the Australian team.

"Sport brings us together and helps us celebrate the best of being Australian, something we hope the commemorative cans will also achieve."

The Honourable Kate Jones MP

Minister reveals Commonwealth Games beer cans

Commonwealth Games Minister Kate Jones has teamed up with iconic Queensland brewery XXXX to release a series of commemorative beer cans to celebrate the Games.

The XXXX Gold cans created by the Queensland institution 36 years after the brewery developed a similar series for Brisbane's 1982 Commonwealth Games were shown to the public for the first time today.

"In years to come, these cans will be a special part of Queensland's history," said Commonwealth Games Minister Kate Jones.

"It's pieces of memorabilia like this that last generations – people will be able to hand down these cans as a reminder of the largest event in Queensland's history.

"Visitors from overseas will be able to take home a souvenir that is uniquely Australian. Nothing screams Queensland like a XXXX beer can designed to celebrate the Gold Coast Commonwealth Games.

"The XXXX brewery is an icon in Queensland so it's only fitting they produce the official commemorative cans for the Commonwealth Games."

The limited edition GC2018 cans will incorporate different themes like swimming, cycling and running and are also intended to celebrate the return of the Commonwealth Games to Queensland.

XXXX Brewery Director Irene Bell said GC2018 commemorative cans would appear in specially-marked cartons of XXXX GOLD and would be sold at major liquor outlets across the state from March and throughout the Games.

"We are really excited to be brewing XXXX GOLD in these special cans and create something nostalgic for Queenslanders," she said.

"The commemorative cans are a nod to our long-standing support of the games and the Australian team.

"Sport brings us together and helps us celebrate the best of being Australian, something we hope the commemorative cans will also achieve."

Hi Jack

Further to the announcement today I had a few follow up questions :

- Under the commemorative cans deal, did the State Government or Commonwealth Games provide any funding or in kind support to Lion?
- If so, how much?
- Did the GOLDOC or the state government seek any other Queensland based brewers to produce the commemorative cans?

My deadline is the end of the week.
I'm hoping to avoid the RTI process.
Many thanks.

Josh

Hi Josh,
Hi Josh,

The State Government provided no funds to XXXX – they are a sponsor of the Games.

No other brewer was approached to produce the cans in question because this was an initiative that was proposed by XXXX.

If you need any attributable comments please come back to me.

Thanks,

Jack

Just saw this was put out, RE the cans:

All of the cans artwork and advertising is pre-vetted independently against the Alcohol Beverages Advertising Code, to ensure they meet the high standards and do not appeal to children.

Cheers, Dan
